PREFACE

Theses have elements. Isn't that nice?

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I want to “thank” my committee, without whose ridiculous demands, I would have graduated so, so, very much faster.

SUMMARY

Why should I provide a summary? Just read the thesis.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

Every dissertation should have an introduction. You might not realize it, but the introduction should introduce the concepts, background, and goals of the dissertation [1, 2].

CHAPTER II

EQUATIONS

The theories of special and general relativity are summarized in the subequations environment:

$$E = m c^2 , \tag{2.1a}$$

$$G_{ab} = \kappa T_{ab} . \tag{2.1b}$$

Here, c in Eq. (2.1a) is the speed of light and G_{ab} in Eq. (2.1b) is the Einstein tensor.

CHAPTER III

TABLES

The Table environment is illustrated in Table 3.1.

Table 3.1: A table, centered. Caption needs to be above the table.

Title	Author
War And Peace	Leo Tolstoy
The Great Gatsby	F. Scott Fitzgerald

Table 3.2: A sideways table, centered. A sideways table will not be displayed in the proper location in a DVI viewer. However, it will be placed corrected once the document is further compiled to a pdf file.

War And Peace	Leo Tolstoy
The Great Gatsby	F. Scott Fitzgerald

CHAPTER IV

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, my theories are correct.

APPENDIX A

ANCILLARY STUFF

Ancillary material should be put in appendices, which appear just before the bibliography.

VITA

Albert Einstein was born in an insignificant town whose claim of fame is that he created mind twisting theories of relativity which caused millions of physicists sleepless.
